This recipe can be prepared in 45 minutes or less.

Complete the entrée with a dilled cucumber salad, steamed squash and popovers (from a mix). End with purchased strawberry tarts.

seared salmon on baby spinach

- 2 7-ounce skinless salmon fillets
- 2 tablespoons (1/4 stick) butter
- 3 large shallots, sliced
- 1 1/2 tablespoons chopped fresh tarragon
- 3 ounces baby spinach leaves
- 1/3 cup dry white wine
- 1/4 cup whipping cream

Sprinkle salmon with salt and pepper. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in medium skillet over medium-high heat. Add salmon; sauté until just opaque in center, about 4 minutes per side. Transfer to plate.

Melt 1/2 tablespoon butter in same skillet. Add half of shallots and half of tarragon; sauté 30 seconds. Increase heat to high; add half of spinach and toss 30 seconds. Add remaining spinach; toss until wilted. Divide between plates.

Melt remaining 1/2 tablespoon butter in same skillet over medium-high heat. Add remaining shallots and tarragon; sauté 30 seconds. Add wine and cream and boil until sauce is thick enough to coat spoon, about 3 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Return salmon to skillet; simmer 1 minute. Arrange salmon with sauce atop spinach.

Serves 2; can be doubled.

easy chicken pot pies

For a first course, toss mixed greens with a cider vinaigrette.

- 1 refrigerated pie crust (half of 15-ounce package), room temperature
- 2 tablespoons all purpose flour
- 1 1/2 teaspoons dried rubbed sage
- 8 ounces skinless boneless chicken breast, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 1/2 tablespoons butter
- 1 1/3 cups canned chicken broth
- 1 1/2 cups frozen mixed vegetables

Preheat oven to 425°F. Place crust on work surface. Press out fold lines; pinch to seal any cracks. Cut out 2 pastry rounds to fit top of two 2-cup ramekins. Arrange crusts on baking sheet. Pierce with fork. Bake crusts until golden, about 8 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine flour and 1/2 teaspoon sage in medium bowl. Season chicken with salt and pepper. Add chicken to flour; toss to coat. Melt butter in heavy large skillet over medium-high heat. Add chicken and any remaining flour to skillet and stir until chicken is brown, about 5 minutes. Mix in broth, vegetables and 1 teaspoon sage. Bring to boil, scraping up any browned bits. Reduce heat, cover skillet and simmer until chicken is cooked through, about 8 minutes. Season with salt and pepper.

Transfer filling to ramekins. Top with crusts and serve.

2 Servings; can be doubled.

This pasta dish originated in the region of Lazio, not Tuscany. However, it is popular throughout Italy—and America—today.

spaghetti carbonara

9 bacon slices, chopped
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
4 large egg yolks
12 ounces spaghetti
Additional grated Parmesan cheese

Combine bacon and butter in heavy large skillet over medium heat. Sauté until bacon is brown and crisp. Using slotted spoon, transfer bacon to paper towels and drain. Whisk cream, 1/2 cup grated cheese and egg yolks in medium bowl to blend; whisk in 2 tablespoons drippings from skillet. Set cream mixture aside; discard remaining drippings.

Cook pasta in large pot of boiling salted water until just tender but still firm to bite, stirring occasionally. Drain pasta and return to same pot. Add cream mixture to pasta. Toss over medium-low heat until sauce cooks through and coats pasta thickly, about 4 minutes (do not boil). Mix in bacon. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Divide pasta among 6 plates. Serve, passing additional cheese separately.

Makes 6 first-course servings.

super-fast spinach, pesto and cheese lasagna

It's little wonder that lasagna became the informal party dish of the fifties and sixties—it can be assembled ahead of time, it freezes well, and it is a delicious and inexpensive way to feed a crowd. In this contemporary—and meatless—version, “no-boil” noodles eliminate a step, and bottled pasta sauce stands in for homemade.

- 3 cups ricotta cheese
- 1 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
- 1 large egg
- 2 10-ounce packages frozen chopped spinach, thawed, squeezed dry
- 1 7-ounce package prepared pesto
- 4 cups bottled chunky pasta sauce
- 12 no-boil lasagna noodles from one 8-ounce package
- 2 cups grated fontina cheese

Blend ricotta and Parmesan in medium bowl. Season cheeses with salt and pepper; stir in egg. Blend spinach and pesto in another medium bowl.

Brush 13x9x2-inch glass baking dish with oil. Spread 1 cup pasta sauce in prepared dish. Arrange 3 noodles side by side atop sauce. Spread 1 1/4 cups ricotta cheese mixture over in thin layer. Drop 1/3 of spinach mixture over by spoonfuls. Repeat layering with sauce, noodles, ricotta cheese mixture and spinach mixture 2 more times. Top with remaining 3 noodles and 1 cup sauce.

Preheat oven to 350°F. Cover lasagna with foil. Bake 35 minutes. Uncover; sprinkle with Fontina cheese. Bake lasagna until heated through, sauce bubbles and cheese on top is melted, about 15 minutes longer. Let stand 10 minutes.

Makes 8 servings.

grilled pork chops with sour cherry sauce

- 3 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 3/4 cup dry red wine
- 1/4 cup minced shallot
- 1 3-inch cinnamon stick
- 1 cup chicken broth
- 1 pound sour cherries (about 3 cups), pitted
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch dissolved in 1 tablespoon cold water
- 2 teaspoons fresh lime juice, or to taste
- 8 1-inch-thick boneless pork chops
- vegetable oil for rubbing chops

In a heavy saucepan boil the vinegar with the sugar over moderate heat until the mixture is reduced to a glaze. Add the wine, the shallot, and the cinnamon stick and boil the mixture until it is reduced to about 1/4 cup. Add the broth and the cherries and simmer the sauce for 5 minutes. Stir the cornstarch mixture, add enough of it to the sauce, stirring, to thicken the sauce to the desired consistency, and simmer the sauce for 2 minutes. Discard the cinnamon stick, stir in the lime juice and salt and pepper to taste, and keep the sauce warm, covered.

Pat the chops dry with paper towels, rub both sides of each chop with the oil, and season the chops with salt and pepper. Grill the chops on an oiled rack set 5 to 6 inches over glowing coals for 6 to 8 minutes on each side, or until they are just cooked through. Transfer the pork chops to a platter and spoon the sauce over them.

Serves 8.

crispy duck breasts with pear & green peppercorn sauce

- 1 1/2 pounds boneless duck breast* (4 boneless breast halves, cut from two 5 1/2- to 6-pound ducks)
- 1 firm-ripe bosc pear
- 3/4 cup apple juice
- 1/2 teaspoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons calvados or armagnac
- 1 tablespoon green peppercorns packed in brine, drained and crushed lightly
- 1 tablespoon duck or veal demiglace* or 1/2 extra-large vegetarian vegetable bouillon cube
- 1 teaspoon fresh thyme leaves or 1/4 teaspoon dried, crumbled

Garnish: fresh thyme sprigs

**available at many butcher shops and specialty foods shops*

Trim excess fat from duck breasts. Heat a 12-inch heavy skillet over high heat until very hot. Pat breasts dry and season with salt. Put breasts, skin sides down, in skillet and reduce heat to moderate. Cook breasts 20 minutes, or until skin is crisp and mahogany-colored, removing fat from skillet as it is rendered with a metal bulb baster (or very carefully pouring it off). Turn breasts and cook about 2 minutes for medium-rare or to desired doneness. Transfer breasts to a plate and keep warm, covered loosely.

While duck breasts are cooking, peel pear and cut into 1/4-inch dice. Pour off all but about 1 tablespoon fat from skillet and sauté pear until lightly browned, about 1 minute. In a measuring cup stir together apple juice and cornstarch. To pear add Calvados or Armagnac. Stir in cornstarch mixture, peppercorns, demiglace or bouillon cube, and thyme and simmer, stirring, 2 minutes, or until slightly thickened.

Serve duck breasts, sliced, with sauce spooned over them and garnish with thyme sprigs.

Crusty French bread and baked potatoes with butter are terrific alongside the eggs and asparagus. Add a fresh fruit tart from the bakery, and you'll know that this is definitely not breakfast.

niçoise tuna sandwich (pan bagnat)

This tuna sandwich is all about olive oil. Use the French stuff if possible; otherwise, any mild olive oil will do—save that fancy super-Tuscan for something else. The tuna and the bread are crucial, too. Forget about tuna packed in water. It's flavorless. You want the kind packed in olive (not vegetable) oil. We thought ortiz's Bonito del Norte, newly exported from Spain, was the closest thing to Niçoise tuna, but it can be tough to find. (We ordered ours from Citarella; 212-874-0384.) Of the brands commonly available in the United States, we preferred Progresso light tuna. Other brands of canned light tuna that we are fond of are Genova and La Giara. This last is very expensive—about $10—and is available at many specialty foods shops and by mail order from Citarella.

- 1/4 of white onion, thinly sliced
- 1/8 of a small red onion, thinly sliced
- 2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, plus additional for drizzling
- 1 tablespoon red-wine vinegar, plus additional to taste
- 1/4 teaspoon salt, plus additional to taste
- black pepper to taste
- 1 6-ounce can tuna packed in olive oil(see above) including olive oil
- lemon juice to taste
- 2 kaiser rolls, plain
- lettuce leaves, combination of boston, green-leaf, or other green leafy lettuce
- 8 tomato slices
- 6-8 hard-boiled eggs slices
- 4 anchovy fillets, drained
- niçoise olives
- scallions, chopped
- radishes, sliced

Combine the red and white onion with 2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, 1 tablespoon red-wine vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and several grinds of black pepper in a bowl. Using your hands, mix and squeeze everything together for 5 minutes. (Don't rush through this part; the onions need time to release their juices and mellow.) Work in can of tuna in olive oil, including the oil. Season with fresh lemon juice, red-wine vinegar, and salt, then add pepper to taste.

Cut kaiser rolls in half crosswise and spread each bottom half with lettuce leaves. Use a couple of varieties—whatever looks good—for the difference in texture. On top of each lettuce layer, arrange 4 tomato slices (skip this step if you don't have good—really good—tomatoes on hand). Then add about half the tuna mixture and 3 to 4 slices of hard-boiled egg.

Crisscross each sandwich with 2 drained anchovy fillets and strew with Niçoise olives (pit them if desired), chopped scallion greens, and sliced radishes. Then drizzle generously with more olive oil and top with the remaining kaiser halves, pressing gently but firmly.

Makes 2 sandwiches.

dark chocolate
honey-almond
fondue

Cheese fondue originated in Switzerland, but chocolate fondue was a New World recipe created in 1964 by Konrad Egli, a Swiss-born chef working at New York's Chalet Swiss restaurant. Zurich's Toblerone chocolate works well in the dish, because its honey-nougat blend echoes the honey and almond flavoring that are also in the recipe.

- 6 tablespoons whipping cream
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 2 3.52-ounce bars toblerone bittersweet chocolate or 7 ounces semisweet chocolate, chopped
- 1 tablespoon kirsch (clear cherry brandy)
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract
- Assorted fresh fruit (such as whole strawberries, 1-inch-thick slices peeled banana, peeled pear wedges and orange segments)

Bring cream and honey to simmer in heavy medium saucepan. Add chocolate; whisk until melted. Remove from heat. Whisk in kirsch and extract. Pour fondue into bowl; place on platter. Surround with fruit. Serve with skewers.

Serves 4 to 6.

- 1 1/2 cups quick-cooking rolled oats

Preheat oven to 350°F.

Coarsely chop dates. In a 3-quart saucepan melt butter over low heat and remove pan from heat. Add brown sugar, stirring until smooth, and sift flour, baking soda, and salt over butter mixture. In a cup lightly beat egg and stir into flour mixture with vanilla, oats, and dates until combined well.

Onto 2 large ungreased baking sheets spoon slightly rounded tablespoons dough about 2 inches apart. Roll dough into balls with floured hands, returning to sheets. Bake cookies in upper and lower thirds of oven, switching position of sheets halfway through baking, until golden brown, about 18 minutes total. Transfer cookies to racks to cool. Cookies keep in an airtight container about 1 week.

Makes about 24 cookies.
